Celebrating 20th Anniversary in Grocery Business in Hamlin

This week readers of the Herald will scan a full page grocery advertisement of the Albritton Food Store. This is a part of their celebration of a little more than TWENTY YEARS in the grocery business in this city. It is befitting here for the Herald to join in hearty congratulations on this wonderful long time in a single business in Hamlin.

Think of 20 years. If W. A. Albritton should stay in business just four times this much longer he would make it a round hundred years. And from the way he looks he might make a record in his "staying" ability.

Twenty years is not all the credit Arthur Albritton has. He is a real old timer in Hamlin. And again we say he is not old, or even looks old, him that) but nobody can blame him for that.

Four years before Mr. Albritton started in the grocery business, Ye Editor observed him in an Express wagon, pulled by a large bay horse. He handled lots of "stuff" into Hamlin in the days from 1914 to 1918. Mr. Albritton does not like to be called a saloon keeper, and he never did, but he will tell you he unloaded more liquor into Hamlin than any other man living. He also kept more liquor in the Express warehouse than anybody else handled. But those days and also the boom express days faded away with the coming of national prohibition and the auto. So in time W. A. Albritton gave up the express and went into the grocery business. But let us go back still further.

Arthur Albritton came to Hamlin in or about the year 1906. That was before lots of the things we know of were here. The Katy had not gotten here, neither the A. & S., there was no F. & M. Bank building, not even Dr. Pardue was here. So Arthur was at first a real estate man, for a few years. Just a big frisky boy from the low lands about Downsville, Louisiana, out west to grow up with the "new comers." That was nearly a third of a hundred years ago. So if Arthur lives two more thirty-three years in Hamlin he will be far over a hundred years of age.

We are trying to get to the point about Albritton Food Store anniversary. You see there are a lot of things back of twenty years in Hamlin or along with them. For instance, Arthur has played a lot of parts in Hamlin in the last 30 or more years and the record shows that he was once a prominent member of the W. O. W. and is now with the Modern Woodmen of America, two semi-fraternal insurance organizations. Arthur is a Mason, was once president of the Hamlin school board; he is a Rotarian, and a deacon in the Baptist church, and with all this Albritton is an old fashioned Southern Democrat. Arthur has one wife, two daughters, and one son and one grand daughter.

Speaking of sons: Perhaps it is because of that "son" that Arthur has been able to fight the battles of the grocer for the past twenty years . . . with drought, war, depression and strange economic changes all about. W. Henry Albritton is the Junior member of the firm. He is really a Hamlin boy, who prepared himself in the mysteries of business administration, and in these days of Anniversaries, Henry is the "public relations man." Henry is a chip off the old block, looks about the way his Dad did about thirty years ago . . . wound up for a good hundred.

In preparation for this 20th Anniversary, the Albritton Food Store, which occupies a corner on Central Avenue and 9th Street, a good brick building, has been thoroughly overhauled, refinished, the main store room extended, new colors and new arrangement of a great stock of goods. Being on a corner, this store has a bountiful supply of natural light and ventilation from the south. The space is ample for the main stock, for the large meat department and for a back storage room.

This week the folks from all around Hamlin are being invited to the big 20th Anniversary Grocery Sale. Albritton & Son are proud of their place in the business world in and about Hamlin and they do not intend to take a back seat for anybody's town. In their page they close by saying "20 Years of Service to the People of Hamlin and Territory . . . Young Enough to be progressive—Old Enough to be Dependable" and after all that says it. The field of advertising covered by the Albrittons invites people to come to Hamlin, and it is the best method of extending and holding Hamlin's trade territory. . . A good advertisement by one merchant helps all others and makes and keeps a good town. Congratulations, Albrittons.

DEATH CLAIMS J. E. FOOTE, SUNDAY

Following a number of years of feebleness and illness, J. E. Foote, passed away at his home two miles east of Boyds Chapel, Sunday night, May 29, at 11:40 o'clock, closing a long and eventful life of a noble citizen, companion and father.

Mr. Foote was born in Cumby, Texas (formerly known as Black Jack Grove) Hopkins county, January 10, 1859 and his age was 79 years, 4 months and 19 days. He is survived by a second wife, and the following children of this marriage: Mrs. Buck Koonce, Elvins Foote and Miss Elaine Foote, all of Abilene. Mrs. Edna Rogers of Pampa, W. B. Foote, Port Arthur, Oran and Miss Adele Foote of Boyd Chapel. One daughter, Mrs. Vinnie Murff died in December 1931. His companion in his first marriage passed away in his early manhood, and to that union there lives but one son, Consul Walter A. Foote, now stationed at Melbourne, Australia. Little is known of the first marriage. Walter A. Foote was a visitor at his father's home some years ago, and perhaps one of the high points in the father's life was to greet that son, self-made and prominent in the State Department of our country.

J. E. Foote was a man of high ideals, dignified and pleasing in his personality.

Funeral services were in charge of the Barrow Company and the services were held at the Boyd Chapel Baptist Church, Tuesday afternoon by Rev. Emery Scott, of Roby, and Rev. B. T. Bateman of McCaulley. Interment was in Neinda Cemetery.

A PRETTY ICE CREAM PARLOR OPENS THIS WEEK

Just angling across the from the Herald office is a pretty white, new building, mentioned some time ago. This week it is revealed that two young men, Harry Gardner, and Aubrey Halbert are the proprietors who will preside at the newest and most fashionable Ice Cream Parlor yet built exclusively for Hamlin.

These young men are showing lots of style, and pride in this new place. It is going to be a dilly, and look at the parking space. Lots of room to "cool and soo." Yes there will be lights a plenty, and still there will no obstruction of the night breezes. This place promises to be open 16 hours of every day. Thank you boys, pass the cream.

HAMLIN LIONS ENTERTAINED GUESTS

The Lions Club of Hamlin was happy to entertain a group of the Anson Lions in their meeting here Tuesday. Under the leadership of Lions Omar T. Burleson, Gilbert Smith and Earl Isbell, some twelve Ansonites invaded the local Lions Den and after much snarling in which water played a part the peace pipe was smoked and Omar Burleson in collaboration with Arlie Casle reported on the Lions Convention held in Lubbock recently.

Besides the Anson visitors, other guests included the Reverend Jackson, local Minister of the Church of Christ, guest of Lion Joe McCrary; Mr. Cavanaugh as guest of Kurt Schoemann. There was one Baylor Bear with the Lions as J. C. Turner was the guest of Gerald Morgan.

PRESENTED IN RECITAL

Mrs. Heflin Miller presented a group of pupils from her speech class in recital Monday evening at the High School Auditorium, in a varied program of readings, songs and tap dances.

Those on the program were Joe Clements, Burt Fuller, Patsy Keen, Elma Ree Brewer, Peggy Terrell, Beverly Harvey, Dora Joyce Culbertson, Theresa Maples, Barbara Young, Naomi Young, Barbara Gildon, Dorothy Jones, Jerry Waggoner, Elmer Terrell, Peggy Barton, June Rogers, June Hurley, Helen Boone, Sue Barton, Lanelle Andress and Lala Mae Riddle.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Collier Porterfield, a fine baby girl on May 28th, and her name is Barbara Ann. It is now appropriate to say "Grandpa and Grandma" Ed Bailey. Mr. and Mrs. Porterfield reside in San Bernardino, California.

Mr. and Mrs. S. D. McMahon went to San Angelo Sunday to visit his niece, Mrs. Joe Thorp.

Unveiling Heroic Monuments Is Something New To Jones County People

Texas is not a land of monuments . . . YET. It is too young for many monuments. Still there are many names on the pages of history, whose lives and deeds would merit a place of prominence, carved in marble and cast in bronze.

As has been well published in the county and state press, Anson was the scene last Sunday afternoon for the unveiling of an heroic monument to the honor and memory of Dr. Anson Jones, the fourth and last president of the Republic of Texas.

This monument is a small part of the Centennial Committee's work, to properly pay tribute to men who made possible, so early, this great independent republic and Lone Star State of Texas.

Unveiling monuments is something new to the people of any section of Texas and especially out here in the West. We do not know whether or not Anson Jones ever saw a foot of this county, but we do know that hardly a 900 square mile area in this great state could be found as pretty as this county called Jones. Today there stands, or we should say, sits, a monuments of heroic size, at the south entrance of the County Court House, in the City of Anson, in majestic pose, serene in meditation or study, facing south, directly greeting highway traffic as it comes into the city of Anson . . . ANSON JONES, for whom this county and that city were named. The life of Dr. Anson Jones will be studied all the more by the school boys and girls of this county, more especially because of that fitting monument. Perhaps it will be an inspiration for some one or many to press on to overcome difficulties as that man did, and finally be of great service to humanity in some capacity.

That was a rare unveiling. Unusual in many respects . . . Judge Ash of Houston, a grandson of Dr. Anson Jones, was present, and his daughter, Mrs. Oldham, a great granddaughter of Dr. Anson Jones, did the unveiling, and the sculptor, Enrico Carrachio of Houston, was present to make a talk. Lt. Governor Walter Woodul made the presentation speech, and was one of the Committee to award the monument to Anson, instead of erecting a row of heroic monuments all in Austin. Walter S. Pope Jr., was chairman of the unveiling program and Judge Burleson accepted in behalf of Anson and all Jones County. During the program the Texas flag waved from the top of the flag pole, probably the first time in the United States that any flag ever waved above that of the U. S. flag, finally the Texas flag was lowered, symbolic of the event Feb. 16, 1846, when Anson Jones with his own hands struck the tricolor of the Lone Star. Earlier in the day, he had officially retired from the Texas presidency and J. Pinkney Henderson had taken the oath as the first governor of the state.

The Stamford American Legion placed a wreath on the statue, and as a Memorial Day ceremony, a salute was fired, followed by taps.

Following the unveiling, the honored guests were given a reception and supper at the Anson Hotel, where again, more interesting short talks were made in an informal way. At this reception, the Herald Editor and wife were honored by invitation from Editor and Mrs. Hersley of Anson.

Every citizen in Jones County should be glad to have this monument within our borders. It belongs to all the county and its birthright is in Anson.

McCAULEY BASE BALL NEWS

Hitson and Royston play another league game in the Hamlin park next Saturday.

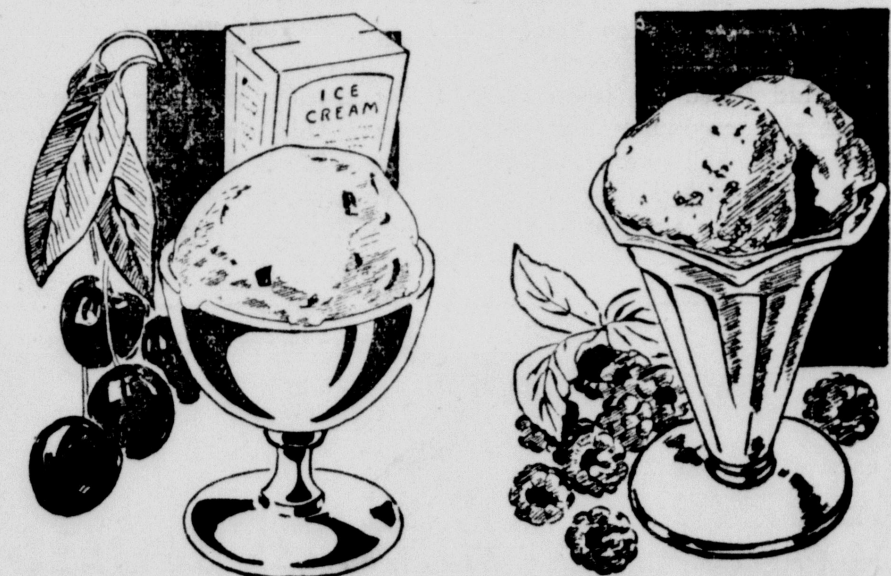

In a hotly contested game Sunday at McCaulley, Royston beat McCaulley by a score of six to five. The game was mixed with thrills and spills, and the largest crowd of the season was in an uproar from start to finish.

McCaulley will play next Sunday at McCaulley. The Trent team will likely be the opposition.

THANKS FOR THE BILLION!

Speeding 3,000 miles through the clouds from the orange groves of the West, Patricia Ellis, youthful screen star, brought to President Franklin D. Roosevelt a baby navel orange tree, the direct descendant of the parent tree sent to California 65 years ago by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Thus did 15,000 California citrus growers symbolically repay the U. S. Government a billion dollar debt in one of the most unique events growing out of the strangest story of plant propagation in the history of horticultural science.

At the White House, in behalf of the President, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt received the tree and a box of navel oranges from the original 65 year old tree.

Since the propagation of this seedless variety, more than nine million navel orange trees have sprung into abundant growth in California's sunlit groves and the original importation has been characterized by the U. S. Department of Agriculture as "the most valuable fruit introduction yet made."

They have established a sandwich shop in the Wilson building between the Wienke Beauty Salon and the hardware store. Here is hoping the good family will continue to like "Friendly Hamlin."

USE COTTONSEED PRODUCTS DAILY IN LOCAL HOMES

COTTON WEEK TRIBUTE TO ESSENTIAL CROP AND INDUSTRIES

Nation-wide tribute is being paid during the week of May 30 to June 4 to products of the cotton plant in the observance of National Cotton Week. More than 40,000 retail stores, and chambers of commerce, service clubs and other agencies are featuring products of cotton and cottonseed, and the importance of this crop and the industries built around it, during the week.

In addition to the main products of lint cotton, cottonseed provides hundreds of products used daily in the homes of America, the Educational Service of the National Cottonseed Products Association points out. Cottonseed products, and the cotton oil industry have a significant part in the economic life of the South.

Southern farmers have received an average of $138,569,000 yearly from cotton oil mills for their cottonseed, which was a valueless waste product before the cotton oil industry was established. More than $10,000,000 is paid annually in wages and salaries to 113,000 wage-earners.

Because cotton oil mills are widely scattered in cities and towns of cotton-growing states from the Carolinas to California, and seed is bought from farmers in all sections of the South, this income is widely distributed throughout towns and rural areas of the South, it is pointed out.

The many uses for cottonseed products are indicated by the following list published by the Association, which includes only a small part of all uses:

Cottonseed cake, or meal—feed for all classes of livestock; fertilizer for crops.

Cottonseed Oil—Vegetable shortenings; margarine (oleomargarine); salad and salad dressing; soap; composition roofing; cosmetics; linoleum; oil cloth; printers inks; and other products.

Cotton Linters—Rayon; lacquers; varnishes and enamels; plastics; explosives; films; paper; surgical dressing; yarns; cellophane; bakelite; batting and felt products; fabrics; colloidion; and many other products.

The cotton states will add to their Cottonseed Hulls—Livestock feed; fertilizer; pressed paper; packing and stuffing; basis for explosives; and other products.

Cottonseed Flour — For human consumption.

The cotton states will add to their wealth as the people of every community throughout all cotton states learn more about the uses of the products from the tiny cottonseed—yet a great store house of wealth.

GAS CO. VICTOR IN BIGGEST RATE CASE; WINS NINE OTHERS

Lone Star Gas Company's victory in the famous gate rate case decided in its favor by the United States Supreme Court is the climax to a long series of court victories by the company, according to company officials. Since 1929, the company has won nine cases that have reached final decision.

In the present case, after six years of exhaustive investigation by the Texas Railroad Commission and the Courts, the company has established the fact that the railroad commission's order reducing its rate from 40 cents per 1,000 cubic feet to 32 cents was unjust and confiscatory. The Supreme Court sustained the verdict of a jury in the district court at Austin which held that the rate ordered by the commission was unfair and has returned the case to the Court of Civil Appeals for judgment accordingly.

This case, started by the railroad commission in 1932, was the one in which the commission assailed the company's advertising, laying down a policy which virtually would have prevented the company from advertising had it been upheld. While the commission did not eliminate the company's advertising expense in this case, it inferred that most of its advertising was for political purposes and stated as a positive policy that only the local distributing companies should advertise and not the Lone Star Gas Company.

The Supreme Court, according to company attorneys, in effect held that since the jury as the trier of the facts found the commission's order confiscatory upon the conflicting facts, the Court of Civil Appeals could not overturn the jury's verdict on the ground that the company had failed to properly segregate its Texas and Oklahoma property. The High Court further held that the evidence was sufficient which the company introduced in support of its claim that the commission's rate was confiscatory.

The court held that the gas company had by appropriate evidence shown the commission's order to be confiscatory, that jury had so found, that under the State practice the Court of Civil Appeals was not empowered to substitute its findings for the jury and trial judge upon conflicting evidence, and that therefore the case should be remanded to the Court of Civil Appeals for a judgment accordingly.

The other major cases won by the company since 1929 involved rates in Fort Worth, Roysen City, Wichita Falls and Oklahoma, and regulatory issues in Sherman, Wichita Falls and Fort Worth.

Miss Della Bryson returned home Wednesday from Abilene where she received her B. S. degree from Hardin-Simmons University. She has accepted a position as primary teacher in a school near New Castle.

John May who has been employed in a bank in Lamesa, came this week to take charge of the May Furniture store while his father, M. P. May is taking a few weeks rest from business. Mr. May's condition is not considered serious, but his doctor ordered quiet and rest for a time.

Safety in Numbers!

New Figures on Road Maps Help Drivers

New Conoco Maps Make You Think in Hours Instead of Miles

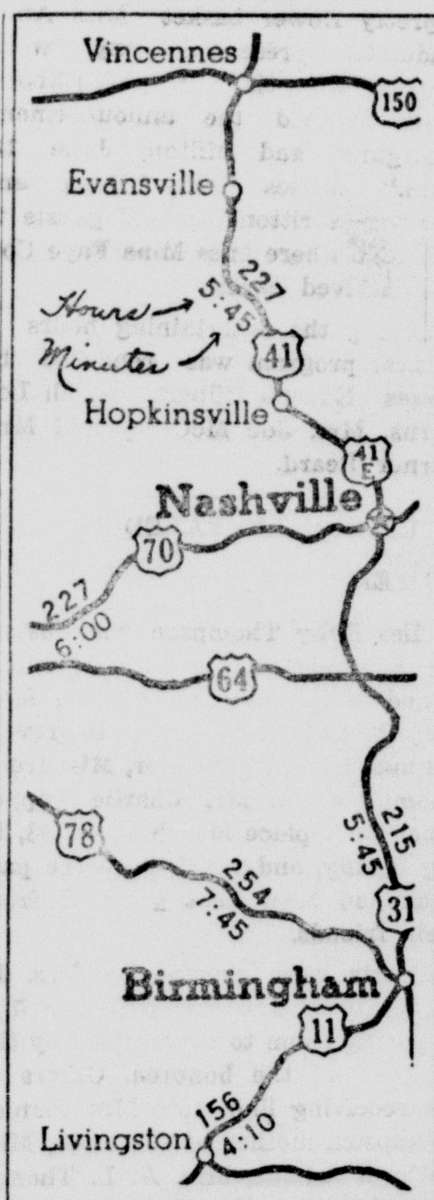

PONCA CITY, Okla.—Numerals that indicate the average driving time from town to town in hours and minutes have been added to United States maps issued by the Conoco Travel Bureau, America's largest free travel service which is maintained by the Continental Oil Company. This new automobile safety development is the most advanced road map improvement in recent years.

The new driving time figures, which are printed in red beneath each mileage figure, are expected to save the driver the trouble of calculating his own probable time and to encourage him to think in terms of reasonable time of arrival instead of the distance he has to cover.

Continental's driving time figures are the result of long investigation and careful checking of practically all of the well-travelled roads in the country. The hours and minutes as they appear on the new maps represent effective but reasonable speeds under normal traffic conditions and over dry roads.

In each case, consideration has been given to the nature of the route and to whether there are an unusual number of hills, turns or other features. For example, where a distance of 182 miles of flat straightaway in Arizona requires only 4 hours and 30 minutes at a safe pace, the same distance in the West Virginia hills requires 5 hours and 27 minutes.

The driver is expected to make allowances if he is in the habit of driving unusually fast or slow or if he encounters bad weather or heavy traffic. In test use, motorists seem to have no difficulty in learning how much allowance to make after a few trials, and the easy calculation of the probable hour of arrival appears to set a standard that removes some of the uncertainty and makes for more comfortable driving.

HAMLIN, TEXAS

RECOVERY—It is estimated that real recovery will be felt in the United States when the national income reaches between ninety and one hundred billion dollars. This will mean all those unemployed at present will have jobs. The President has offered Congress a full recovery program which is outlined as follows: Some increased spending to add to the total of dollars that the unemployed and the country's farmers have to spend, and in this way bolster production; induce railroads and business men and prospective home builders to borrow money and invest in new plant and equipment, inventories, or in homes; a study of private price controls in industry in order to effect changes in the country's anti-trust laws.

NAVY BILL—The navy expansion bill in the Senate was passed by a vote of 56 to 28. The Bone amendments to define a mid-Pacific line of limitation for fleet activity and to confine construction to Government shipyards were defeated. An amendment limiting the three new projected battleships to 35,000 tons each, until it is certain that other nations are building larger ship, was upheld.

MILITARY BILLS—A bill appropriating 227 millions for civil functions of the War Department was passed by the Senate and sent to conference. The military functions bill of the War Department is also being worked on by the conferees. An outlay of 489 millions for the coming fiscal year, is called for in the Senate bill with 448 millions appropriated by the House.

IN AN ADDRESS before the U. S. Chamber of Commerce in Washington, C. C. William Clayton, a Houston, Texas, cotton man said Make is possible for our millions of producers of food, fibre and raw materials to enlarge the markets for their products and they will immediately buy more automobiles, more radios, more electric refrigerators and the many other things which the American people want. If we are to judge the future by the past, the proceeds of increased imports would be used to buy more of our goods. There is one serious flaw in the picture of the substantial recovery in our foreign trade since 1932. While our total exports have doubled, our agricultural exports have increased only 20 per cent. In 1937, foreigners spent in this country one billion seven hundred million dollars more for American goods than they spent in 1932, but agriculture only gets one out of every twelve dollars of our export business. The explanation must largely lie in our treatment of the agricultural problem. Government price-pegging loans and Government-subsidized curtailment of production have over a period of years priced our farm products out of the world market, building up the production of competitive countries who have eagerly seized what we have deliberately surrendered. In our own interest, we must make available to other nations our great surpluses of food and fibre and raw materials at competitive world prices and on terms which will make other things than gold valid for payment. We already have their gold.

P. A. Project workers received the P. A. Project workers received the following announcement with their pay checks from Harry Hopkins, Works Progress Administrator: I have been my desire that everyone connected with the Works Progress Administration should know and understand the rules under which we work. This is especially true of any question involving personal rights. For this reason, I want to repeat once more our rules about elections so that there can be absolutely no misunderstanding. Every person, who works for the WPA, has the right to vote in any election for any candidate he chooses. Moreover, no WPA worker is required to contribute to any political party or any campaign fund in order to hold his job. No supervisor or administrative person may attempt to influence the vote of any worker under him. Anyone who uses his position with the WPA in any way to influence the votes of others by threat or intimidation will be dismissed. No one will lose his WPA job because of his vote in any election or his failure to contribute to any campaign fund. This has always been an absolute rule of the WPA, and it is my responsibility and yours to see that there are no exceptions. What's more, I want you to let me know if anybody tries to tell you anything different.

DIFFERENT TRAFFIC LAWS MAKE DRIVING DIFFICULT—The mere crossing of a state line may sometimes transform a safe and prudent driver into a lawbreaker and an unsafe driver—a natural result of the nonuniformity of traffic laws in the states. This is one of the conclusions in a study of traffic conditions and measures for their improvement which Congress directed the Bureau of Public Roads to make. It is generally accepted, says the Bureau, that the manner of driving a motor vehicle becomes a habit and that the involuntary reflexes largely govern the handling and control of a vehicle by each individual. The involuntary response determines the reaction of the driver in emergencies. The driving habits of the individual, with few exceptions, are formed in a single state and a single community of that state. Uniform traffic regulations throughout each state—with local ordinances subject to approval by the state and enforced primarily by local officers in cooperation with the state, are recommended in the Bureau report, sent to Congress.

FEDERAL HOUSING — Funds amounting to approximately $63,000,000 were made available by private lending institutions to finance the construction or purchase of 14,200 small homes under the FHA plan during April. This amount exceeded by $13,000,000 the figures for April 1937 which set the high mark in FHA records for last year. These figures do not include modernization and repair loans nor large scale projects.

GET THE START ON HOPPERS

I am afraid we are overlooking our grasshoppers. Mr. C. H. Gable, who is in charge of the grasshopper control said he knew of a few cases in adjoining counties where they were eating the wheat; in fact, one man lost 10 per cent of his wheat before he knew he had any hoppers.

According to Gable, now is the time to poison the grasshoppers. It can be done when the hoppers are small, much cheaper and takes a lot less time.

I urge you to inspect all grass spots in your field, fence rows, pastures and draws running through your field. If you find grasshoppers, go to one of the mixing stations and get your poison. The Chamber of Commerce of Anson, Stamford and Hamlin have set up these mixing stations and are cooperating in every way possible to combat these insects.

HOW TO DISTRIBUTE

THE POISON

Gable insists that we have some system to putting out our poison. Poison where the hoppers are, when you poison. For instance, if you find grasshoppers on the fence rows, poison the fence rows and not out in the field. Keep in mind, when they migrate to the field, then poison in the field.

Put out the poison like sowing seed broadcast. Two thin applications are worth one heavy application. A properly distributed application of poison will be so thin that a passer-by will hardly notice any poison at all, but this is the kind that gets the grasshoppers.

You need not be afraid to poison strips in the pasture adjoining the field, for if done as suggested, there is no danger to livestock.

LET'S GO AT THIS THE RIGHT WAY AND GET THESE HOPPERS BEFORE THEY GET US.

Mrs. Carlton Parker and children, Carlene and James, of Littlefield, came Friday to visit their parents Dr and Mrs. L. S. Magee.

Mrs. Vera Nobles and daughter, Miss Mary Marguerite, returned home Friday from Lubbock. Mrs. Nobles has been spending the school term in Lubbock to be with her son, Warren, who is a student in Texas Tech. Miss Mary Marguerite attended the Lubbock Junior High School.

McCAULLEY MATTERS

By JOHN P. HARDESTY

This writer is away in Fort Worth this week attending the Preachers' Evangelistic Conference at the Southwestern Baptist Seminary. Therefore this column will be a little short for this issue. We are glad to give here with the program for the Workers' Conference which meets with us on June 20. We have the promise from Brethren Dick and Dunlap that they will be with us to take their parts on the program. We hope that all our friends will begin now to plan to be present.

The D. L. Smiths had as their guest last Sunday his mother from Abilene. She was a welcome visitor also at our S. S. and church services.

Mrs. D. C. Mills and daughter, Dorothy, of Crowell, former residents of McCaulley, visited friends here over the week-end. They were accompanied from Benjamin by her other daughter, Frances, and husband, Wesley Atkins, who visited his parents and other relatives.

Grandmother Stephenson is visiting in the home of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. W. H. Stephenson. Her home for the past few years has been at Talpa in East Texas. Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Stephenson from Baltimore, Md., are visiting his mother, Mrs. W. H. Stephenson, and other kin. All these visitors were attendants at our church services Sunday.

J. M. Johnson, after spending several weeks visiting his children and other relatives at Fort Worth, Loving, Lorenzo, Snyder, and other points has returned to his home here. Friends of Mrs. C. D. Jones gave her a farewell reception and handkerchief shower at the Methodist Church last Friday afternoon. She and the children will join her husband in their new home in Crowell, where Mr. Jones has been at work for several weeks. They expect to leave about June 1st if they secure a house to reside in at Crowell.

ladies of the Methodist, Baptist and Church of Christ, Friday afternoon, May 30. The theme for the program was Decoration and Memorial Days. Program was opened with prayer by Mrs. Bateman. Devotional was given by Mrs. Stevenson. Others on the program were Mmes. Wilburn Jackson, Boyd, J. A. Jackson, Courtney and Miss Boyd. Closing song, "Onward Christian Soldiers," after which a refreshment plate was served to the following guests: Mmes. D. N. Miers, Jones, Hendon, Maberry, Boyd, Parker, McPatter, Wilburn, Martin, Short, Tom Maberry, J. A. Jackson; Messrs. Boyd, Hill and Mayfield.

Heretofore the Wesley Fellowship class of the Methodist Church has supported an orphan in the Waco Methodist Orphanage, but last year Mary Catherine Latham, our charge, graduated, leaving the home. This year our class decided to take up objectives closer home. Recently we have provided a room, small red chairs and other equipment for a beginners class. Mrs. Rex Kemp was selected teacher for that class. Since the first of the year we have sent pot plants to the following: Mrs. Joe Miers, while in Hamlin hospital, Mrs. M. B. Yates, while in Baylor hospital.

On Mother's Day the class sponsored a program at which time each pioneer mother of the church was presented with a red carnation, showing our appreciation for their lives. Mrs. J. A. Jackson made a most appropriate talk preceding the presentation.

The Layman's day program for this charge was held at Boyd Chapel Sunday, May 29. An all day meeting was enjoyed by the following communities: McCaulley, Neinda, and Boyd Chapel. Huie Parker, of McCaulley, was in charge of the program, "Why Go to Church?" with many interesting subdivisions that were discussed by individuals from the stated communities. At the noon hour a feast was served under the tabernacle at which time all present did justice. After noon Judge Otis Miller of Anson, delivered a splendid message along the subject of the day, "Why Go to Church?" An Aldersgate program was carried out by the pastor, Rev. J. R. Bateman, last Tuesday evening.

Carroll Benson who has been teaching in the Merkel public school, returned home this week to spend the summer with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Benson. Mr. Benson was re-elected to teach in the Merkel schools for the coming year.

Little Miss Peggy Anne Floyd of Junction is spending several weeks here with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. McClung.

John Howard, Jr. is home from John Tarleton College where he has completed his freshman year.
